LEADERSHIP THROUGH STRENGTHS-BASED EDUCATION

The Mission of Legacy Leadership Academy extends beyond ensuring our students are academically sound; we strive to develop within them strong interpersonal skills and character that will help them meet the demands in a 21st century global environment.

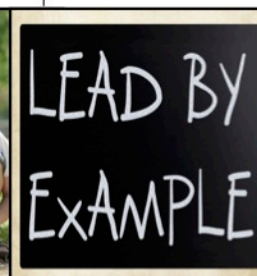

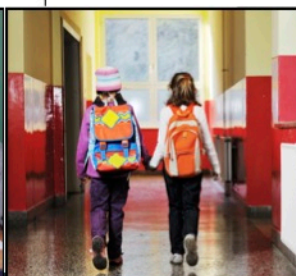

"Every human being has talents that are just waiting to be uncovered..."

...the key to human development is building upon who you already are."
- Tom Rath StrengthsFinder

Legacy Leadership Academy school culture is based on a classical education approach to learning. Students will receive knowledge about ways to develop their whole selves. They will learn about their unique personal strengths through the principles of The Gallup Path, and will learn to develop those strengths through the leadership principles found in Stephen Covey's The Leader in Me.

Our Traditional classical liberal arts education curriculum holds literacy, numeracy, cultural literacy, moral virtue, and excellence at its core. It strategically provides for content and instructional methods to align with students' developmental stages.
